DON'T HIT YOUR FINGER — Tiny tots enrolled in the Free Church Cooperative Pre-School learned a bit about carpentry Tuesday morning, when Charles Leigh took time out from his Avco engineering work to instruct the youngsters. Pre-School Growth Is Described

Two years ago four Andover women sat down to talk informally about the possibility of a daytime activity for pre-school children that could, with mothers helping, give four-year-olds a group experience.

From this acorn has grown a licensed, non-profit, non-denominational cooperative nursery school of a type unique in this area. The Free Church Cooperative

Jaycee's Safety Crusade Given Official Support

Full municipal cooperation has been offered to the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, as it begins a year-long safety crusade.

Chairman Eugene A. Bernardin Jr. of the Board of Selectmen, and Police Chief David L. Nicoll have assured the Jaycee safety crusade committee that town officials and the police department will cooperate in the campaign.

The year-long event will be kicked-off May 9 at a dinner meeting at Central Catholic High School Auditorium.

Chairman Robert Hermann of North Andover has announced that Registrar of Motor Vehicles Clement Riley will be one of the principal speakers.

The Jaycees, in starting the crusade, are responding to a growing concern within the Greater Lawrence communities at the increasing rate of automobile accidents. The crusade will be a continuing effort to make all citizens aware of the dangers facing them, the need to exercise caution and to obey traffic laws.

Based on results obtained in other communities, the Jaycees feel that the campaign can result in a saving in lives and in the reduction of high automobile insurance rates.

Chairman Hermann anticipates that an official of another Massachusetts city, where a similar campaign was conducted, will speak to the May 9 dinner meeting. Mr. Hermann also will describe the program as outlined by the Jaycee steering committee.

Working on the crusade are Dean K. Webster III of Andover,

Dimlich Plans To Stay As Jr. High Principal

"I'm going to stay in my job until they throw me out" ousted Junior High School Principal Benjamin F. Dimlich told the Townsman this week.

"I consider myself principal of the school and I wish to have them (the School Committee) recognize it, so that I can continue my program".

Dimlich said he has made up his mind not to accept a post as administrative assistant, which was created by the Committee and to which he was appointed at $7,400 yearly.

His initial statement of refusal came last Saturday, after he received official notice of the job.

Mr. Dimlich reitterated this week that he had been promised an apology "by a member of the School Committee" and insisted that there had been an agreement on the longevity of the new position.

Neither an apology nor any vote on longevity was discussed at the School Committee meeting Tues-

PRE-SCHOOL GROWTH OUTLINED

Pre-School opened with the fall term last year with 15 students. It now has a full complement of 20, a fully accredited teacher and two mother assistants for each day of school.

But of greater importance than statistics is the fact that the experiment has been successful. The school is completely self-supporting. And for the second year it is truly non-denominational; there are boys and girls attending who represent each of the three major faiths. The school is giving the children a real growth experience and it is giving their parents an opportunity to share in and learn from their child's first break with education at the home level.

What makes a "cooperative" cooperative? The parents work. In this case each mother assists twice a month at the morning school session. School is held each weekday except Thursday from 9 a.m. until 11:30. In addition, both mothers and fathers attend work parties to build, repair and refurbish equipment. They take responsibility for the membership of classes for the next year; they earn money for additions to the school's permanent equipment. They also attend three or four parent education meetings a year to discuss such subjects as speech development, character development, physical and emotional growth.

This is a church related school without church domination. Free Church has no financial hand in the school other than the donation of its facilities. The education committee of the church has an interest in, but no direct control over the curriculum. The school's teacher is hired by the executive board elected from parents of children attending each year. An advisory board of past officers and interested educators provides continuing leadership.

Why does Free Church sponsor an activity which is of direct benefit to only a few of its members? (A minority of students each year have been from Free Church families.) The church considers that it is discharging part of its responsibility to the community by supporting a project for the general good.

Leaning post for all the parents involved is Mrs. Thayer Warshaw, teacher, who guides the mothers and fathers into really benefiting from their association with a cooperative. Mrs. Warshaw, a graduate of Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio, has taught in the public schools and just prior to this post was assistant teacher at the Jewish Community Center nursery school in Lawrence.

Teaching four-year-olds who are not really ready to sit down school-desk fashion for more than short periods requires a knack for encouraging, guiding and restraining simultaneously.

An important part of the preschool "curriculum" is free play. A third of each day is devoted to this time when the children may dress up for make-believe play, build with blocks, paint as the fancy strikes, climb, read a book, play records, etc. What to an outsider may seem a period of general disorder is actually one of perpetual growth. Early in the year most of the children play along side one another but maintain their independence. But with time they progress to group play, i.e. playing train for example when they are willing to delegate authority to one engineer or conductor and cooperate to make the train go. This free period also encourages those who have not developed beyond physical play to branch out into handwork or quiet periods of listening to music, for example.

Free play is followed by an informal group period when children are given an opportunity to stand up and talk about home and experiences to their schoolmates. Some are only ready to listen, but all develop vocabulary and poise from this experience, as well as respect for others and a healthy imagination.

A short period of refreshment is preceeded by a simple non-demoninational blessing. This break is "work" provides a chance for social experience. The children select the friends they wish to sit with and they help with serving, thereby beginning to acquire acceptable manners. Then there is a brief rest period during which the boys and girls listen to a story or music.

The last portion of each morning is spent outside in good weather, inside with a series of short activities in bad. When confined inside the children move through such directed activity as rhythm orchestra, action songs, and special creative work requiring attention and following of instruction about how to cut or paste or assemble paper objects and the like.

Periodically short trips are planned when the boys and girls share the excitement of learning first hand about the fire house, library, the zoo, trains, the airport, a farm and a dairy.

League Heard Talk On Cuban Situation

Robert Lyons, Executive Secretary of the New England Regional Office of the American Friends Service Committee, spoke to the League of Women Voters on Cuba at their spring luncheon last week at Fieldstones.

Mr. Lyons has visited Cuba twice in the last year and told the members present that he was generally favorably impressed with what is happening in Cuba. He said he is of course critical of some aspects of the situation but that the average Cuban is far better off under Castro than he was under Batista.

Mr. Lyons itemized the improvements that have occured under the revolution; first explaining that to Cubans, the revolution is a positive thing. Revolution means to build, to them, he said. The construction of new schools has been fantastic. Many new schools were built and manned in areas Castro controlled long before he took over the whole country. This trend has continued. Highway improvements are phenomenal too. This is a country where roads have always been impassable in the rainy season and where there has been much war devastation. An excellent social welfare ministry has been established. This is the first time the Cuban government has provided any aid to the aged, indigents and homeless children.

Questions followed the talk. Mr. Lyons explained the disturbing facts in the situation; anti-americansim and the absence of elections. He reminded League members that anti-americansim in Latin America is only the fruit of the seeds we have sown over many years.

Mrs. Jerome Andrews Jr., President, opened the meeting with several announcements, including the statement that the League of Women Voters had no position, nor had ever discussed, the current school problem. She said this was the usual problem of the organization being blamed or praised for actions of its individual members. She asked those present to help remind the townspeople that League members are all free to act politically as they wish and that all their opinions are not those of the organization.

West Parish Church Received Members

The flowers on Palm Sunday in the West Church were the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Grant.

At the 9:30 service of Worship in the West Church last Sunday Mr. Oscar Vaughn rendered "Palm Branches" and at the 11 o'clock service, the senior choir rendered "The Way to Jerusalem".

A welcome to the new Pastor the Rev. Howard Andrews, and his family, was given at the 11 o'clock service by Senior Deacon D. W. Grant.

The following were received into membership of the West Church at the 11 o'clock service: the Rev. and Mrs. Andrews and their son, Edward, from the First Church of Swampscott; and from the Communicants Class, Stephen Churchill, Barbara Fraize, Nancy Henderson, Richard Hinman, Judith Jackson, Susan Kohli, Linda Remington, Joan Smyth, Charlene Tarbox, Lucille Webb, David West and Richard West.

WILL RESURFACE PART OF SHAWSHEEN ROAD

The town will pay for resurfacing the small section of Shawsheen rd. that has again sunk slightly.

Manager Thomas E. Duff said there is some money in the Shawsheen rd. account, and this will be spent for the small repairs needed. The area is currently indicated by a flashing light on a wooden horse.

The section first sank after the Chapter 90 reconstruction project, then finally was surfaced under an agreement with the state.

ATTENDED TB CONTROL MEETING

HAVING PRIDE OF OWNERSHIP

2256 PLUS

At the end of our fiscal year, we had 2256 shareholders on our books. That is to say, 2256 canny, knowledgeable, astute individuals had pride of ownership in a basic, local business enterprise.

Taken together, these 2256 owners of the CO-OP probably constitute as representative a cross-section of this community as exists. Why? Because, although we represent no special interests, we do represent our members and customers self interest.

But 2256 is not all. In the last few weeks, scores of new members have wanted a piece of this expanding business. We heartily welcome their participation in Andover's most democratic business.

Meanwhile, our Building Fund is growing fast, but there is still time to invest in it at 5% interest. And the building itself is going up daily, for everyone to see.

The CO-OP is more than just a business – it is a personal, local institution, created by its many hundreds of local owners.

CANADA BOUND – These Pike School students will enjoy a Canadian trip, during which they must speak French for all but one hour daily. Examining the travel folder are Dale Barraclough, Jacqueline Meyers, Mrs. Allan Gillingham, instructor and guide, Carol Jones and Mary Durham. (Leone)

Will Speak French On Canadian Trip

The third annual trip to Quebec, led by Mrs. Alan G. Gillingham of the Pike School Faculty, started at 6 a.m. Monday morning, with students scheduled for a four-day visit to the French-speaking city.

Mrs. Gillingham inaugurated the trip three years ago in order to stimulate interest in the spoken French language. As many as nine boys and girls have made the trip at one time. In order to qualify, the pupils must satisfy classroom requirements of excellence in the spoken and written French language. While they are in the City of Quebec, the students are required to speak French throughout all but one hour of their day.

The lucky pupils this year are Carol Jones, Dale Barraclough, Mary Durham and Jacqueline Meyers. In addition to the four girls John Axelrod qualified but was unable to make the trip. All are members of the eighth grade at the local independent day school.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Consider Issues On Merits

Looks like Andover will be a mighty political place, as if it hasn't been in past years, now that the Town Employees' Association has announced its intention to take part in the general political area.

The feeling of the employees is perfectly natural – why shouldn't they take part in examination of budgets, and make themselves heard on other issues, when there are other organized groups doing the same thing?

While this is a quite natural reaction, we wonder if the town's best interests are served by having group more or less drawn up against group.

In cases such as this, many persons have a tendency to choose up sides – supporting everything proposed or supported by one group or the other. This sort of reaction, while natural, does not always serve the town best. For there often are both good and bad suggestions from the various groups which assume some responsibility for the management of the community.

For one, we'll still call the shots as we see them on the issues as they come up. And in doing so, it's a certainty that we'll be both agreeing and disagreeing with one group or the other at various times.

This is the way issues should be considered – each on its merits, without regard to the personalities of the individuals connected with the ideas.

Strictest Control Needed

One of the most vital jobs the Selectmen have is control over the town's gravel pits – important because pits can so easily become an eyesore and a danger to the community.

We were surprised to hear last week that some pit operators have been working without bothering to renew their permits – a responsibility that rests with the individual operator, who should keep track of his permit and seek a renewal in sufficient time.

This information was disclosed by the sub-committee of the Board of Selectmen, who periodically inspect the pits and recommend action to the full Board.

It seems to us that some one person – perhaps it should be the building inspector – should regularly and frequently inspect the pits. Any infraction of the permit should result in an immediate shut down, until the condition is corrected. Only one or two situations of that sort would occur before all the operators decided to comply fully with the town's requirements.

From time to time we've pointed out that the town can not justly ban all gravel pits – but we certainly believe in the strictest control. One has only to see the dangerous and unsightly conditions left for other towns to worry about to become insistent that Andover maintain a rigid, inflexible policy of requiring every single regulation to be met, without exception.

Well Done!

The initiative shown by students at the Junior High School, in pitching in to reconstruct a green area at the school, is highly commendable.

The young people turned out in droves last Saturday to dig up the hard-pan area near the parking lot, spread loam, and sow grass seed. Plants and trees will be planted in the area, which had become an unsightly spot over the past few years.

The Student Council, which arranged and financed the project, and all the class members who turned to with a will, deserve the praise of every resident.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago – April, 1910

Frank Watson of Walnut ave. has recently purchased a touring car.

Brooks Holt has succeeded in recovering the horse and buggy stolen from his barn last week. The animal had been driven to Boston and tied in a side street, where police eventually discovered it and traced ownership.

Mrs. J. W. Barnard has been entertaining her daughter, Mrs. Bergstrom of Worcester, for the past few days.

Miss Lucy Anne Allen and Mrs. B. M. Allen are attending a conference of the National Congress of Mothers and Parents Teachers Associations, being held in Worcester today.

The observance of the 20th anniversary of General William F. Bartlett Relief Corps will take place this evening.

M. E. Gutterson was elected president of the Andover Natural History Society Tuesday evening.

Members of General William F. Bartlett Women's Relief Corps have purchased a life-sized statue as a monument in Spring Grove Cemetery.

25 Years Ago – April, 1935

For the first time in many years, the Selectmen have declined to call a special town meeting even after a petition with 100 required signatures had been presented. Proponents of the session want additional changes in the new school construction specifications. The Selectmen state that the contracts have already been awarded and the meeting could accomplish very little. The petitioners can ask for court action to compel a meeting, if they wish.

Leo F. Daley and Ralph A. Woodcock have been appointed to the Finance Committee by Moderator Frederick Butler.

The third auto fatality of the year has been recorded, following the death Saturday of a Barnard st. woman who was struck while crossing Main st. the night of March 28. The operator was summonsed to court on manslaughter charges, with the case being continued.

The School Committee is considering closing the North School. After accepting the resignation of the present teacher, the Committee was told that only 11 pupils are in attendance, nine from Andover and two from Lawrence.

The Natural History Society will vote May 14 on disbanding the organization. Eleven members gathered for the annual meeting, but elected no officers in anticipation of the May meeting.

The controversial $124.10 food bill has finally been approved by the Selectmen. The BPW spent money over-the-counter on the night of the blizzard, and no vouchers have been available to show specific purchases. The Selectmen have stated that spending without vouchers is not legal. The money went for sandwiches and coffee for the employees.

10 Years Ago – April, 1950

A variety of cases will come before Special Justice Richard K. Gordon at Saturday's court session in the town hall. Included among the summoned cases are 12 traffic violations, one larceny case and one person will appear on a charge of throwing rubbish on a public way.

About 150 veterans have applied for units at the Veterans Housing buildings. There will be 56 units available in the newly-constructed buildings.

The baseball season opens April 18, against Howe High of Billerica.

There were more than 2,500 children and their parents on hand for the Easter egg hunt in the park. This first renewal of the traditional pre-Easter activity indicated continuing interest.

Fire in the motor of a tank truck, which held 800 gallons of gasoline, threw a scare into bystanders last Friday. The Fire Department used fog spray, foamite and du-gas to put out the flames, which apparently posed the threat of an explosion.

The Selectmen have decided to put parking meters along Punchard ave. They state that there has been a lot of irregular parking on the street and feel that the meters will correct it.

Egg Tree Contest

For a week there have been eggs "rolling in" to the library, almost unrecognizable as eggs because of dyes, paints, patterns, cloth and paper and feather frills. But all are eggs, being entered in the annual contest held in the Children's Room of the Memorial Hall Library. Judges will decide which of the entrants will carry off the prizes. Judging has always been a difficult task, and this Saturday afternoon, April 16, will be particularly difficult. All eggs must be in the library by 12 noon of that day, and late entrants will be disqualified.

Three classes of decorations are permitted: one, single eggs painted with a design or picture (no accessories); two, single eggs decorated with paints and other materials, such as paper, cloth, etc.; family entries, the third class, permits each member of a family; adults and children, to decorate an egg which will be part of a unit, such as a string, a star, a circle, or group of related characters. Full details of the contest may be had at the library.

Monday morning, April 18, at 10:30 o'clock, there will be the Egg Tree Program. There will be a movie and several stories, announcement of the winners in the contest and awarding of prizes. All boys and girls are cordially invited.

Open Meeting

The Andover Civil War Roundtable members invite the public to a special lecture at their next meeting. Professor Bernard will speak on "Lincoln At The Time Of Crises". Professor Bernard is a Lincoln scholar and an expert on the life of our great president.

All are cordially invited to attend.

Library Closed

The library will be closed Tuesday, April 19, Patriot's Day. No books will become due on that day.

Also, there will a three hour closing on Good Friday afternoon, from 12 to 3, in both adult and children's departments.

Opera Music

During National Library Week there was a display of interest to opera lovers at the library. The program for the approaching Opera season at the Metropolitan Theatre in Boston from April 18 through April 24 was posted. With it were librettos, scores, histories and pictorial outlines of those operas which will be presented next week. Recordings of several of the operas were added to the exhibit. The proposed program is as follows: Andrea Chenier, Giordano; Faust, Gounod; Madama Butterfly, Puccini; Le Nozze di Figaro, Mozart; La Traviata, Verdi; The Gypsy Baron, Strauss; Simon Boccanegra, Verdi and Il Trovatore, Verdi. The library has over forty operas in recordings, a few in the 78's, but most in long playing. There are a number of light operas also available for home listening.

Two books of particular interest are Rudolph Fellner's "Opera Themes And Plots", which gives the complete stories with over 1,000 musical motives from arias, duets etc. of 32 operas, and Daniel Blum's "A Pictorial Treasury Of Opera In America". With more than 1500 pictures and captions of dramatic scenes and costumed stars he covers all the famous standard operas, as well as many less frequently given. In addition to synopses of the plots, the author gives statistical data with casts of first world performances.

Note Full Year Of Service

A year ago this week the YWCA presented its first program for women in Alumnae House on School st.

The program was planned by a group of Andover women, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ralph Hill, a past president of the Greater Lawrence YWCA, and Mrs. Rowena Thompson, director of decentralized program. The eight-week program of various classes and a kiddie park for pre-school children met with such immediate response that plans to expand were made in June.

The fall program took place in the Andover Youth Center Thursday mornings, and was followed by a winter session which has just finished. A spring term is now underway. A variety of educational and recreational classes have been offered to Andover women and several local citizens have shared their talents as teachers. There have been nine classes of bridge, under the supervision of Mrs. Corinne Hawes and Mrs. Margaret Meyers, both of Andover; flower arranging with Mrs. Ralph Hill as director, and at present Mrs. Bessie Goldsmith conducts an enthusiastic group in discussion on gardening. Among other classes which have been held are Swedish weaving, rug knotting, slip covers and sketching and painting.

In the field of health and physical education, trimnastics or exercises to music to keep one physically fit, has always been included in the schedule and at present Mrs. Dorothy Christopher an Andover resident and a member of the YWCA staff, has a class in combination with folk dancing. Badminton instruction has been given and for the past two weeks recreational badminton under supervision has been scheduled when the gym was free. Last week was the last class in a series of ... lessons given by Mrs. Barbara Berman, former director of health & physical education at the Y.

There have been about 200 participants in the YWCA program so far and plans are underway for a full program next fall. Any women who are interested in the classes or have suggestions for programs are welcome at the Youth Center between 9 and 12:30 Thursday, the YWCA's Andover Day.

PROJECT "GREEN THUMB" — Students from the three upper Junior High grades turned out enthusiastically last Saturday to reconstruct an area of former lawn at the side of the building. The Student Council raised the money for loam and seeds, gifts of trees and plants have been received, and the manpower was happily donated by students. Under the direction of Guidance Counselor William Hart, the boys and girls dug up the old area, spread the loam and seeded the area. An arch and fence, made in the school, will be erected around the area. (Staff Photo)

DIMLICH INTENDS TO HOLD JOB

day night, April 5, when the position was created.

At that time, Dr. Milton J. Meyers, chairman of the Committee, announced Mr. Dimlich's acceptance of the job, after Harold Wennik had loudly insisted that he do so.

The refusal later in the week caught many townspeople by surprise.

In his statement, Mr. Dimlich asserted, in part:

"I agreed to accept a position contingent upon a public apology by the chairman of the School Committee and some assurance that the job would be permanent.

"The School Committee did not live up to the agreement. No public apology was made and there is no guarantee that the job will be permanent.

"Therefore, I can not accept this position and since the School Committee has not lived up to the agreement as I understood it, I feel that the Committee should reconsider the entire matter and place me on tenure as principal of the Junior High School."

Commenting on the subject again Tuesday, Mr. Dimlich told the Townsman that he is continuing to consult with his lawyers, and that support of the Massachusetts Teacher's Association is available.

However, he stated that "the next move is up to the Committee", and explained that legal action can be instituted at any time, whether now, this summer or next fall. "I'm covered by the law, no matter when I start action", he insisted.

Mr. Dimlich said any increase given to a new principal would automatically be paid to him retroactively, if he eventually goes to court and gets tenure as principal.

The School Committee last week discussed hiring a new principal, and members suggested that an open salary be left so that the "best possible man" could be obtained.

Commenting on the job offered to him last week, and the announcement that he had accepted the post, Mr. Dimlich said "there were many promises" including the promise to apologize publicly. The latter came "from a member of the School Committee", he stated.

"I had to listen to him (Supt. Edward I. Erickson) as an employee of the system. I was told that the new job was one that was coming up anyway in a year or so and this just hastened it a little".

But, Mr. Dimlich stated, "I realized how foolish the whole thing was" and decided to refuse the position.

OPEN AIR SHELTER AT VILLAGE DEPOT

The Boston and Maine Railroad has announced that the Shawsheen Station will not be maintained — and that only an open-air shelter will be provided hereafter.

The notice stated that the permission of the State Department of Public Utilities had approved the change.

Highway Dep't. Cleaning Sand

Street cleaning - the aftermath of heavy sanding during the winter months - is in full swing this week throughout the town.

Town Manager Thomas E. Dig... reports that the highway department is busy with this annual task, aided materially by the new sweeper delivered Monday by the E. J. Belisle Co. of Needham Heights.

The "Elgin Street King" was purchased on a bid price of $10,03... It has hydraulic equipment for raising and lowering the brushes and has, in Duff's experience, performed well in other communities.

The lowest bid was for a Wayne model 1550, at $10,096, submitted by the Casey Dupuis Co. of Waterstown.

3 Local Girls Sang In Concert

Mrs. Frank McArdle, director of Music Education in the Andover schools, actively participated in the three-day Conference of Massachusetts Music Educators, held in Worcester Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week.

Three members of the Andover High School A Cappella Choir, Carol Gesing, '60, Pamela Prendergast, '61, and Janet Workman, '62, who had won membership in the Massachusetts All-State Chorus of 200 members, presented a concert in the Worcester Municipal Auditorium Saturday afternoon. It was the climax of the three-day conference of the Massachusetts Music Educators.

Membership in the All-State chorus was a coveted honor achieved through keen competition. The local students won their places in this group only after having first been selected as members of the Massachusetts Northeastern District Chorus, consisting of the 70 finest voices in northeastern Massachusetts senior high schools. Only 50 of the District Chorus were selected for the All-State Chorus.

SAFETY CRUSADE GETS APPROVAL

contests and publicity; Michael Batal Jr. of Lawrence, civic chairman; and Robert Murphy of Lawrence, accident research and study committee. Many other Jaycees are working on the various committees.

Mr. Hermann said the Jaycees are aiming for an attendance of 1,000 at the May 9 meeting, which will feature a bean supper.

Many activities are being planned for the remainder of the year, while study groups will undertake to pinpoint the locations at which many accidents occur.

Plans for the crusade will be announced at the dinner and throughout the year, he explained.

Mrs. Dooley To Star In Operetta

A life-long resident of Andover, Mrs. Helen Collins Dooley, 69 Pine st., will have a starring role in the forthcoming production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Gondoliers" to be held April 27-28-29 at the newly modernized and rebuilt auditorium of the Grace Episcopal Church, Jackson st., Lawrence.

Miss Collins, as she is known professionally, will sing the role of "Tessa" in the operetta directed by Fred Jones, organist and choir director at Grace Church, and well known teacher of piano, organ and voice, under whom she was trained.

Miss Collins shares the spotlight with Martha White, of Cambridge, Anthony DiPietro, of Haverhill, and Norman Ashton, of Derry, N. H., member of the Copley Society of Boston and of the state drama boards of the Massachusetts Council of Woman's Clubs, Miss Collins has shown herself to be a very versatile artist. Several of her paintings have been accepted and shown by the Copley Society. In her dramatic and singing role in "The Gondoliers", Miss Collins exhibits extensive dramatic experience in giving a fine performance.

Champy Will Start Project

Although nothing has been heard from the state about the new industrial site in Shawsheen Village, Town Manager Thomas E. Duff said this week that he expects developer Bernard Champy to go ahead with proposed streets and a railroad spur line.

Mr. Duff said he understands the developer will start construction of his interior roads, plus the rail line, as soon as the weather permits.

His biggest problem is as yet unsolved, according to the manager, because the state has not indicated whether it will plan to erect abutments on part of the area, instead of filling it for the passage of Route 110. If fill is used the Andover portion of the site would be cut off from much of the area, and the planned spur line could not be built.

The industrial location was zoned at the annual town meeting, and lies in the area generally known as the old filter beds.

Mr. Champy's plan shows access roads to South Union st. near the White Pups Bridge in Lawrence, and to Route 114 in Lawrence.

Many a self-made man has a lingering suspicion that somewhere along the line he has cheated himself.

Raise $2,300 In Talent Dollars

Parishioners of the Free Christian Church gave $2,300 to their Church Sunday morning - the results of the Talent Dollar program initiated several weeks ago.

At that time, $2 were given to any parishioner who wished to accept the responsibility of making the money "grow". The proceeds are to be used in clearing up the one remaining Church debt.

Lester T. Newill, who coordinated many of the activities, said the money was earned through a variety of projects - many in the bakery line. The sale of short bread and marmalade alone resulted in $120 being given to the Church. In addition to baking and making things, members sold their services as cleaners, in shoveling snow, car washing, making stilts and in caning chairs. Several activities were the joint efforts of members - including a bean supper several teas and neighborhood entertainments.

One of the unusual efforts was displayed by a woman parishioner, who hand-paints sand dollars, collected in Maine during summer vacations. She donated $50 from the sale of the unique pins.

Coincidentally, one of the Free Church members who receives a hometown newspaper from Scotland, reported that a church there is currently engaged in the same sort of activity, using pound notes in its talent drive.
